NEIGHBORHOOD YARD SALE

Greetings Neighbors!

Here is the June edition of FenceTalk. It was put together in a bit of a rush, so it could be distributed in time to spread the word about the neighborhood yard sale.

It's been hot and rainy, so I guess that means the mosquitoes are next! The experts say to get rid of any standing water (and recommend cleaning out your gutters, too) to rob them of their breeding grounds.

We really need some volunteers to water some of our lamppost planters. Thanks to Judy Harmon and the 'garden club' for planting them, and now to Nina de Charms for keeping the extra baskets watered in her backyard until we can find some more volunteers. It is a bit of work, but certainly adds 'ambiance' to the Heights. Call me if you you'll adopt one of these planters.

I believe the Board is also looking for volunteers to take on the officer positions (in particular, the job of president). Even though the board's functions are mainly 'social' the president's job does involve a lot of work. Hopefully someone will step up to take the job!

I'd love to hear from you with articles for FENCETALK(726-5352or janetschaper@planetstl.com)

VACANT LOT SALE!

The U Heights Board challenges all of you to clean out your basements, closets and garages and set up shop at our vacant lot at Radcliffe and Columbia. The board will advertise the sale in the newspapers and put up signs. Once again, the sale is the Saturday prior to BIG TRASH DAY, so you can drag the leftovers to the curb in front of your house. Here are the facts:

Price: $10 buys a 10'x10' plot of land ($50 for non-residents)

Time: 9am to ??, Saturday, June 15

Where: Corner of Radcliffe and Columbia

Why: Cuz it beats sitting alone on your lawn fighting with your family about selling stuff they haven't touched in 5 years! And...we'll use the money to benefit the neighborhood.

How: Show up at the lot Saturday morning with your wares, tags, money box (simple!)

Misc: Everyone keeps track of their own money. Bring your own change, tags and chairs.

You will also need to clean up your space at the end of the day.

We will advertise this as a neighborhood yard sale, so if you have too much stuff, or are just not feeling very sociable, you can still sell from your own yard. The ad will say the sale starts at 9am, but be prepared for early birds!!

Anyone interested in selling refreshments?

LAMPPOST PLANTERS
We have four remaining lamppost planters that need a caring resident to water and care for them for the summer. The available locations are:

Yale/Dartmouth/Radcliffe
Trinity/Columbia
Trinity/Cornell
Amherst/Radcliffe

Interested? Please call Janet Schaper at 726-5352.

TREELAWN MAINTENANCE

The U Heights Trustees request that each household maintain the grass or plants in the treelawn in front of their home. They have made this request because it is a cost-savings measure for the subdivision and because many residents have special plants in the treelawns, and prefer to tend to them themselves. If you are not able to maintain your tree lawn, please feel free to contact Ron Scott at 725-0893.

TEXTILE RECYCLING

University City residents can now recycle textile items (clothing, shoes or linens) at the University City Recycling Center located at 975 Pennsylvania (behind the Community Center's north rear parking lot).

JUNK MAIL/OFFICE PAPER RECYCLING

You can recycle office paper, junk mail, newspapers, cardboard, just about any paper product except 'chipboard' in the green and yellow container at Delmar/Harvard school.

ASSOCIATION DUES DIRECTORY UPDATE

If you have not yet paid your 2002 association dues ($10 per household), please do so! Association Dues fund the 'social' activities in the neighborhood (luminaria, picnic, neighborhood garage sale) and the publication of FENCETALK. Send your dues to Theresa Biggs, 6955 Amherst. Please be sure to indicate how you would like your entry in the Subdivision Directory to read.

KUDOS

We have a few new neighbors to welcome: Grace Lauren Gardin, daughter of Linda Strassburger and Dave Gardin. Grace arrived March 26, weighing in at 7 lbs 1 oz, 21" long. Three other board members have new additions to their family: Victoria Thomas, Tammy Jennings and Zareena Koch. Sorry I don't have the details for these new residents.

Congratulations to Angela Feddersen Heinze, who has recently been named partner at MackeyMitchellAssociates architectural firm!

Michael and Carol Rominger, (son Alex) have sold their beautifully restored Princeton home; Michael has accepted a position with a medical care provider in Champaign, Illinois. Best wishes to them in their new home and new (ad)ventures. We're sorry to lose them.

"Shifting" neighbors, Jim and Christine Ross (sons Travis and Austin) will soon make the relatively short move from their Harvard home to Princeton Avenue, where they will have more room for family, pets and gardening.

Eric and Lee Sandweiss have sold their beautiful home on Trinity, and are moving to Indiana where Eric has accepted a new career opportunity.
